

Samira is 11 years old and the oldest child in her family. She is a happy girl who attends school and helps at home.

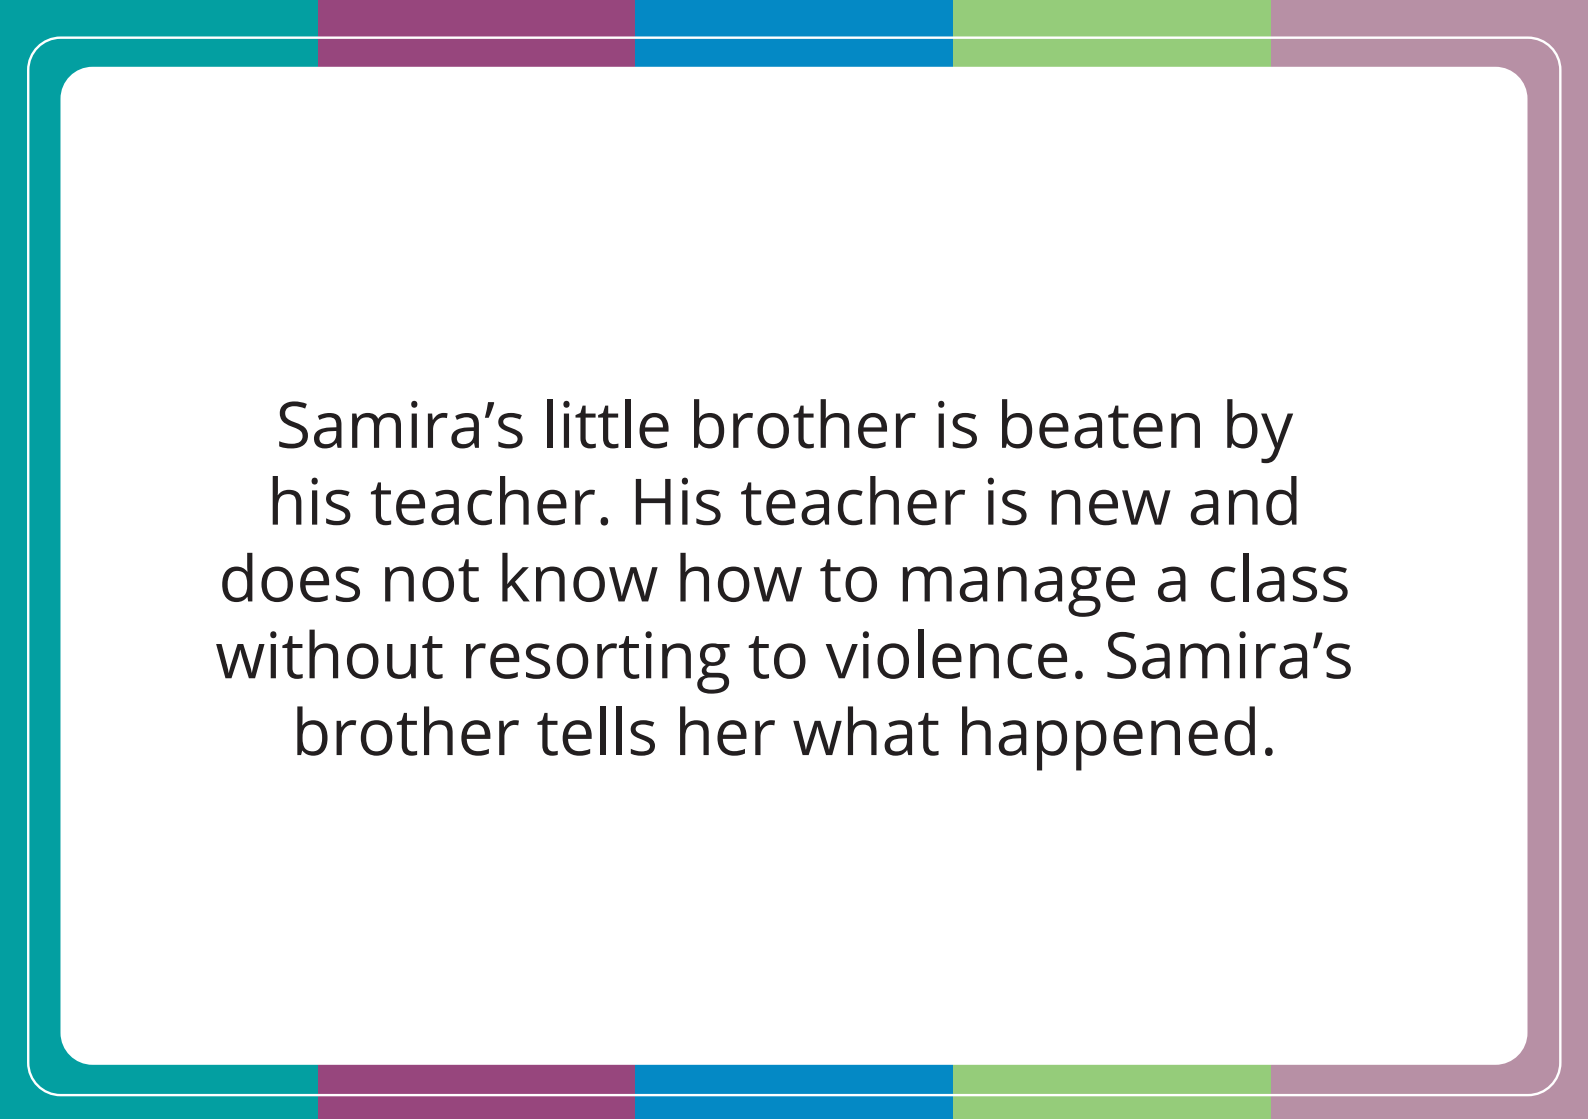

Unfortunately, a sudden emergency devastates her town. She is lost and separated from her family. She feels overwhelmed.

Samira's brother wants to get his ball from a collapsed building. She tells him not to go because her teacher told her about how dangerous it is.

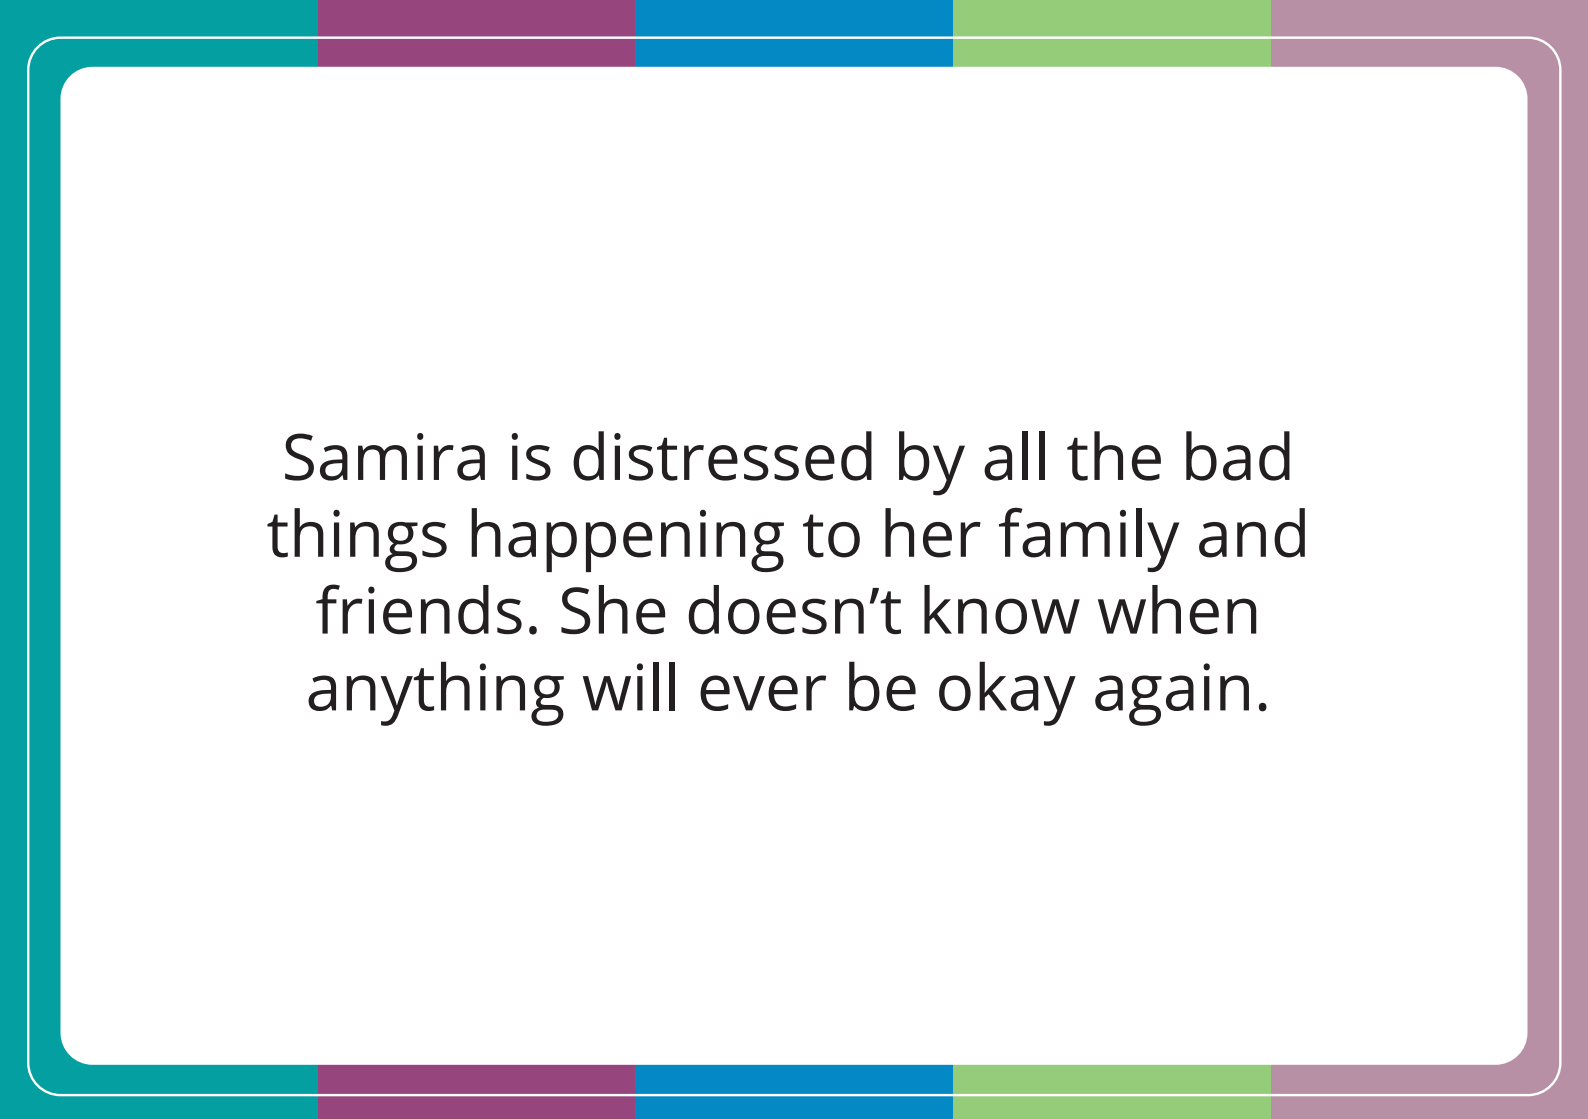

Samira's little brother is beaten by his teacher. His teacher is new and does not know how to manage a class without resorting to violence. Samira's brother tells her what happened.

A neighbour sexually assaults one of Samira's friends. She tells Samira what happened. Samira convinces her friend to talk to an adult at the Child Friendly Space.

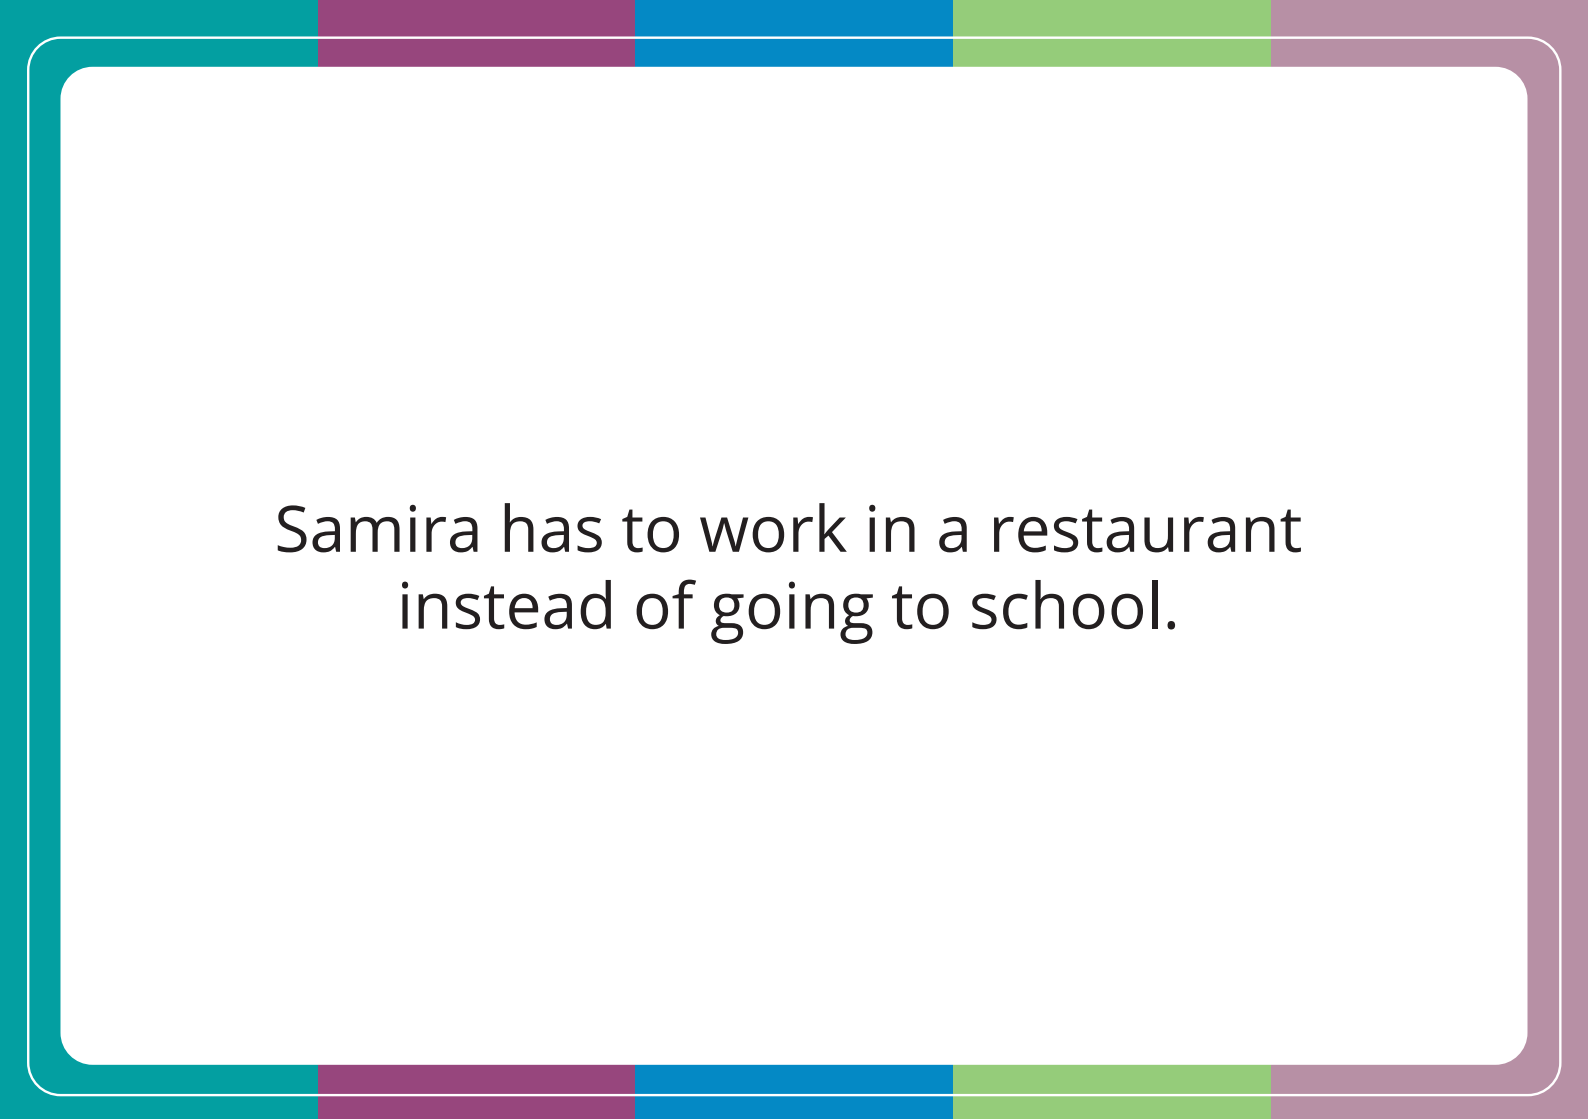

Samira is distressed by all the bad things happening to her family and friends. She doesn't know when anything will ever be okay again.

Samira's dad cannot work. Samira's mom cannot get a job. So Samira's brother steals. But he is caught and arrested.

Samira has to work in a restaurant instead of going to school.

The restaurant manager is an exploitative man. He makes the children work long hours, handle dishes that are too big & heavy, and stir food over an open fire. Samira tells an adult at the Child Friendly Space what is happening. That woman finds a worker who can register Samira's family for cash assistance.

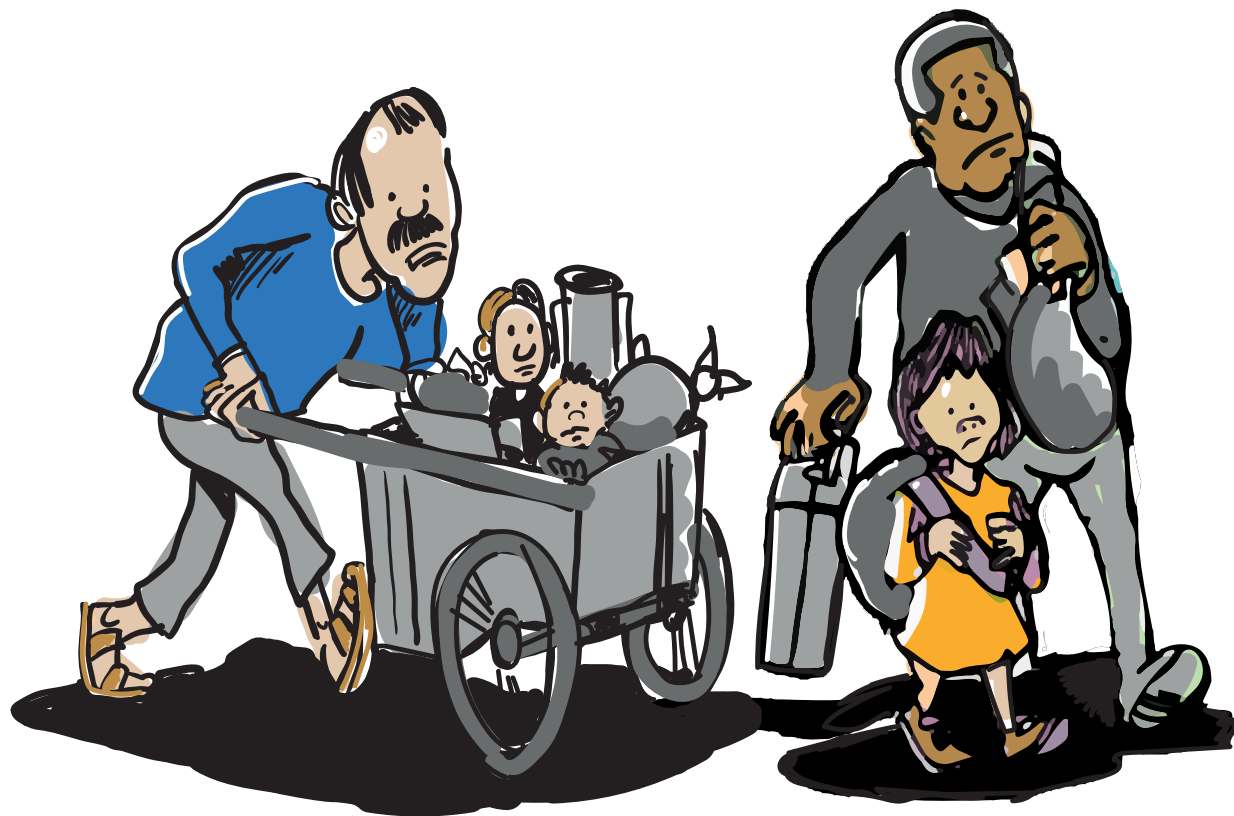

An armed group recruits an older friend of Samira's. She tells him not to go.

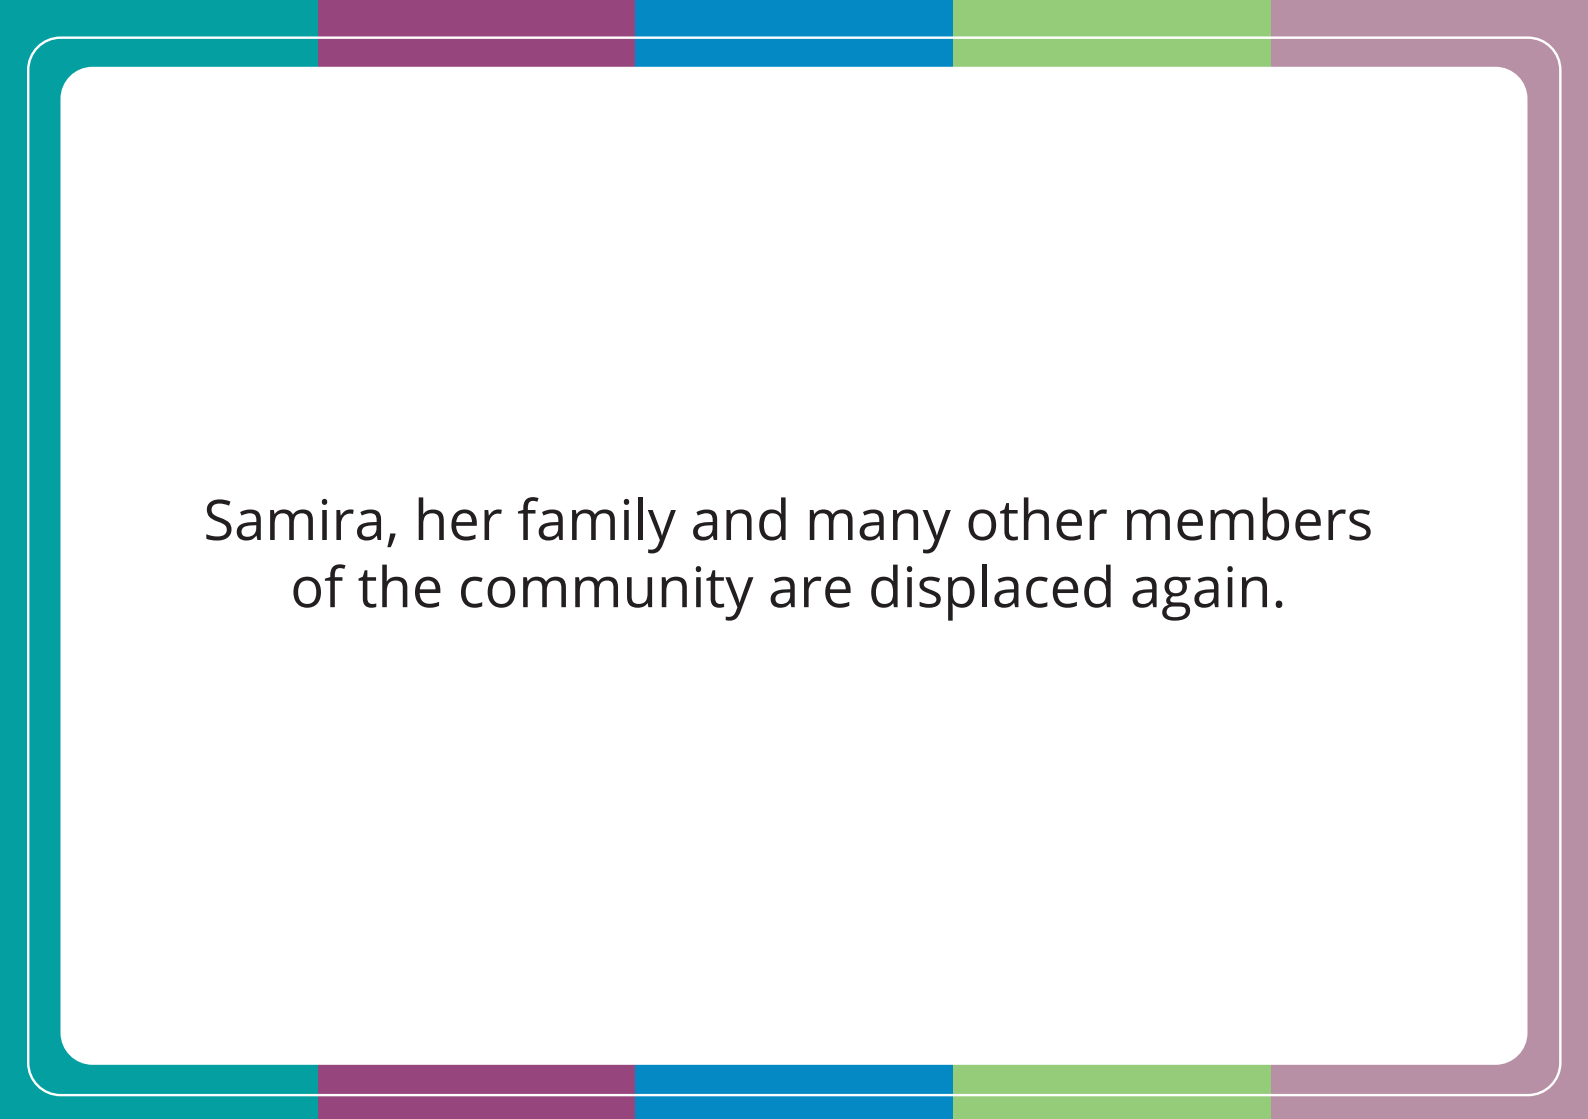

This friend is killed while with the armed group.

Another of Samira's friends uses a wheelchair to get around. But the toilet near her tent is not accessible.

Samira, her family and many other members of the community are displaced again.
